

Joey Aresco

For more than three and a half decades, actor/writer/producer Joey Aresco has been entertaining movie and television audiences with his unique brand of talent. A seasoned veteran actor, Joey has appeared in myriad movies and television programs, many of which have been some of the most loved shows in the history of TV.

From his early guest star roles in 1970s TV classics like “Cannon”, “Baretta” and “The Streets of San Francisco”, Joey went on to star as Sgt. John David 'Hutch' Hutchinson on the popular TV series “Baa Baa Black Sheep.” Since then he has appeared in countless well-known series including “Barney Miller,” “Kojak,” “Chips,” “The Rockford Files,” “Taxi,” and “Dynasty,” to name just a few. Joey also starred in the popular “Star Trek-The Next Generation,” playing the character of “Brull.”

Having acted in Los Angeles for 25 years, Joey now makes his home in Vancouver, Canada, where he has been acting for over 10 years. He has been a member of the Screen Actors Guild since 1972 and the Writers Guild of America West since 1980. He has co-written and co-produced numerous screenplays. Joey's most recent acting credits include the 2007 Pamela Anderson vehicle “Blonde and Blonder” and “The Big Year” starring Steve Martin, Owen Wilson and Jack Black, scheduled for release in 2011.
